Rejoicing in their victory, Comp's football players raise their fists in the air with the hope that they get to touch the sword they fought so hard for.

The Future is in Our Hands

"The future is not something we enter. The future is something we create."

-Leonard J. Sweet

As we woke up on the first day of school this year, we knew that something was different. This was our last year before journeying into the world. We all walked tall through the doors of Comp because we knew that we were and still are the best. As if to prove our supremacy, we won the sword game against Chicopee High and returned the sword to its rightful place.

We are the class of the millennium. We have been changing for the better every year, and the changes that these past four years have had on us will help us as we enter the real world. We have matured and learned from our experiences. After high school, we will find our place in the world and figure out our future. The big question is how are we going to change the future as the first class of the millennium? The answer is in your hands.

-Kimberly Such

Senior Jenn Deitz holds the world within her hands, while sophomore Kristen Cheatle and junior Jeanne Ruell reach for it.

Mrs. Costello helps Michael Wheeler and Ryan Sullivan to achieve their full potential on an assignment in English class.

Micky Dumais shows his patriotism for Comp to the world by dressing head to toe in school spirit.

Dedication

Ms. Lori Parzych

Memini 2000
dedication to
Ms. Lori Parzych, a member of the Chicopee Comprehensive faculty for the last five years.

When a person has a yearbook dedicated to him or her, it usually means they are a very special person. We were looking for a teacher who shows his or her pride in Chicopee Comp, someone who goes above and beyond just being an exceptional educator and a person who can relate to his or her pupils on a special level. This year's Memini 2000 dedication is awarded to Ms. Lori Parzych.

Ms. Parzych graduated from Assumption College in 1993 and started her career as a teacher at Leominster High School where she taught for two years. She entered the Chicopee School System in September of 1995. She taught one class at Comp and a remaining four classes at Chicopee High. In September of 1996, she became full time at Comp and for the last four years has primarily taught Spanish levels one through three. She also has served as the advisor for the National Honor Society for the past four years. Ms. Parzych was chosen for this award because of her perseverance, persistence, and her dedication to the students at Chicopee Comprehensive.

Ms. Parzych starts her day entering the building by 7:00 a.m., not exiting until all after school assistance is provided. She is the type of teacher who not only knows her students by name but also on a personal level.

She is easy to talk to and knows how to make students laugh and feel comfortable. She is always ready and willing to give her assistance and advice to whomever needs it. Ms. Parzych is always trying to modernize her teaching and make her class enjoyable but educational. She knows how to make her class interesting and even at her young age she earns the respect of all her students.

Ms. Parzych is best noted for always keeping busy: you, don't often see her relaxing throughout the day. One factor to her keeping busy is her job as advisor to the National Honor Society. Ms. Parzych is very dedicated to the society and its members. She is constantly trying to get the group to succeed and to appreciate their own hard earned work. At the present time Ms. Parzych is in the midst of getting her masters degree in teaching from Framingham State College. Even though Ms. Parzych is very busy with her own schoolwork, her career, and the National Honor Society she is still seen at cotillions, proms, dances and all major sporting events. Ms. Parzych is a teacher who cares for her students and knows how to have fun. Her personality and hard work make her not only an inspirational teacher but also a teacher for the future.

-Richard Hurley

The three faculty members who tied for the honor of favorite teacher in the Memini 1999 yearbook. Mr. Czaporowski, Ms. Parzych, and Mr. Brown.

At her college graduation from Assumption College. Ms. Parzych looked ready to take on the world of Foreign Language teaching.

Whether in school or at a dance, Ms. Parzych is always ready and willing to support her students and to have a little fun. Ms. Parzych with Rick Hurley, Jen Deitz, Kim and Kris Catarino and Danielle Gazaille.

IN THE TIME - OUT ROOM AGAIN. Relax ! Ms. Parzych and Mr. Midura are just doing their 3rd period duty.

As usual Ms. Parzych is sitting at her desk during lunch. Not seen in the photo is the group of students that come to chat with her during lunch.

The Future takes a look at the Past

In the past four years we've all expected the end to come-- the end of a journey that will take us into the unknown world. The past four years were filled with tons of memories such as having to stand out in the cold for what seemed like ten-thousand fire drills in our freshman year. Sophomore year started off a shirt tradition that would carry through to our senior year. In our junior year we came only 82 points away from beating the seniors in Spirit Week and spent tons of money on Oodles of Noodles to do it. And finally senior year, the list is way to long. So all there is to say is The Class of 2000 is TOO GOOD FOR YOU! We are the spirited class of the Millennium. As we walked through the doors of Comp on the first day of school freshman year, we all came with the same feeling of being nobodies in a world of somebodies. Now when we go off into the world, whether it be college or the work force, we will all feel the same insecurity as the first day of freshman year. But there are a few differences! We've made some of the most special friendships that we will remember forever, we have achieved the base of an exceptional education at C.C.H.S., and last but not least, We Are The Future! So remember one thing on the first day of your future; with every end there is a beginning, but you will never forget the past. Memories don't go away just because we do.

Jamie Maciolek is trying really hard to play some music. "Jamie I know you are a musician but stick to the flute please!"

"Never bend your head. Hold it high. Look the world straight in the eye." Helen Keller

When we entered Chicopee Comprehensive High School we all felt very nervous but at the same time excited as well. We spent the first week trying to find our classes and the quickest way to get to them. We were at the beginning of the journey that our parents refer to as the "best years of our lives." We walked through the halls holding our heads up high, because we knew we were the class of the new millennium.

During the year many interesting things happened. Before we began the year, the gym was flooded, and for the first few weeks of the winter sports season the athletic teams had to practice elsewhere. We also had a week filled with constant fire drills where we were forced to stand in the cold. When our first Spirit Week came along, we finally began to grow as a class while we were wearing that bright orange. The I.D. Policy was also strictly enforced our freshman year.

Freshman year was the year of exploring new things about ourselves and of our very new environment. We made new friends, and we tried to take advantages of the many school activities available. Freshman year in my opinion was the most exciting, because we realized what it meant to be a high school student and that our futures looked bright in this great new school.

REACHING FOR THE FUTURE

Sophomore year, we were one year closer to the end. We had an idea where our classes were but still had a hard time finding them. We started a tradition that year like none other and kept it to our senior year. We made shirts for every event possible: the first day of school, pep rallies, spirit week, etc. We also ordered class rings and learned about dues. We made friendships that changed from time to time, but we were getting to know each other. We were getting to know teachers, principals and guidance counselors-- people whom the year before we would not have attempted to talk to. We were no longer scared; we were getting situated in a world of somebodies. We were trying to find ourselves. We knew that it wouldn't happen all in that year, but most of us just wanted some sort of clue before we became "upperclassmen." We were clueless when it came to knowing how to prepare for college and even knowing what we wanted to do when we got there, but we knew it was approaching. We were envious of the seniors because they got to do all of the "fun" stuff that we couldn't do. Finally, there was one thing that we got to do that we waited a whole year for, pick on the freshmen! That is the thing that most sophomores look forward to. This was a year of new beginnings, experiences and friendships. by Kara Rege and Jessica Chartier

"Enjoy yourself. These are the good old days you're going to miss in the years ahead."
- Anonymous

Enjoy ourselves-- we definitely did! We were finally Upperclassmen. We were getting up there in the world of Chicopee Comprehensive High School yet we still had a ways to go. We were all becoming mobile, getting our licenses, and experiencing a brand new freedom. Our fun was just beginning.

Our year started with a triumphant and unexpected victory over the Class of '99 in the Powder Puff competition. We watched Heather D'Amour become part of the Homecoming Court for her second year, and NO... We didn't win the sword but we TIED!!

"Pay your dues, people", was our class advisor, Mr. Casolari's, creed and Mr. Sweeney joined "our team" as our second class advisor. They, along with our class officers, planned our beautiful Junior Prom at The Log Cabin. Even though it wasn't the nicest of days, we had the best time.

And of course who can forget our spirit week... we were all decked out in our bright Class of '00 team shirts with the most character as a class. We must have bought every package of Ramen Noodles in Chicopee! We only lost Spirit Week to the seniors by 82 points.

As our junior year came to a close, we said good-bye to the Class of '99 and to a phase of our lives. It unquestionably was one of our best years of high school, and it prepared us, academically and socially, for the journeys that we will take in the years to come.

Kate Demers

JUNIOR JOURNEYS

As the days of junior year come to an end, a group squeezes together during lunch.

"Care to tango", says Matt Therrien to classmate, Naomi Quesnel.

Coming in close between classes are Mike Maciolek and Kara Rege.

Grouped together with great big smiles at the National Honor Society Induction Ceremony are Niki Guilbert, Kate Demers, and Jessie Fitzgerald.

They sure are close friends-
 - So close that Sarah Stefaniak can barely breathe between Pam Bournique and Beth Parent.

So, how close can Brandon
 Bartosz get to Jill Houle?
 Well, it seems this is as close as he'll get.

Why aren't these seniors in first period? Oh yeah, they're seniors; it's time for senioritis and some early morning breakfast before school.

How lucky are Rick Hurley and Heather D'Amour to have each other and a friendship that will last forever? Now this is the picture perfect friendship.

A Year to Remember and...

Never Forget

Senior Year. The final year. This is the year we have been waiting for from the moment we walked through the doors of Chicopee Comprehensive High School four years ago. This will be the year we will remember forever and cherish in our hearts.

From the moment the year began memories were in the making. The greatest memory for most of us seniors, if not all, was the long awaited victory at the sword game. How can any of us ever forget the feeling of that sweet victory over our cross-town rival. We'll always remember the Homecoming Dance where we won powder puff, and Gary Perreault and Heather D'Amour were named our Homecoming King and Queen. We'll take with us the memory of our special night at our last Cotillion. We'll remember our last spirit week and that we are the class with the most school spirit. We'll remember taking our SATs again, applying to colleges, getting measured for our caps and gowns, filling out our senior wills, going to and participating in our last Frolics, waiting for colleges to accept us, counting down the last days here at Chicopee Comp, and finally, the arrival of our senior week, the last few days we have together as a class. How can we ever forget the wonderful picnic and the one special night of our lives, the Senior Prom. And finally, we have the arrival of graduation day-- the day we put on our caps and gowns and tell ourselves this is what we've been waiting for. We'll try not to show that deep down inside we'll miss these years more than we can admit.

Our senior year has finally come to an end, an end that we never dreamed would be so hard, but made easier because we will always have the memories and friendships we've created to take with us for the rest of our lives. We are the class of the millennium. We have been prepared, and we are ready to step into the world because we know "the future is in our hands."

-Karen Geung

Who has the cutest smile? Obviously from the looks of this picture Katie Demers and Kara Rege do.

Friendship is one of the most important elements in high school. Pam Bournique and Karen Geung surely display the true meaning of friendship.

Senior Sentiments

The Future at a Glance

A time to say Goodbye

Senior Mike Maciolek loves those school lunches, don't we all.

Everyone will only have one senior year in high school, and that's why it's so important to enjoy it. While waiting for graduation day to come, our class united together as a family. We've gone through many changes during our four years of high school. We've supported each other through good times and bad. Some of us are excited for what our future holds, and others are scared of what's ahead. The memories we've shared will last a lifetime, even though most of us will part. The friendships may not last forever, but they'll always be in our hearts. Much is over now, yet so much more is just beginning. For we're the start of the new Millennium!

*The Class of

Senior Crystal Stokowski studying as always in Mrs. Costello's english class.

Mary Moran and Allison Lapierre always relaxing!

The spirited seniors show which class has the most school pride by making tie dye shirts for the first day of school.

Heather D'Amour and Sara Breault are picture perfect.

Friends Forever-Andrea Schoen and Sara Beaulieu

Seniors Amanda Thomas and Sarah Baker wait to be served at lunch.

Allison Lapierre and Angela Koziol singing the blues on a crazy Friday night.

Acting wild are Amanda Thomas and Aleah Abert.

Naomi Guesnel, Neil Dombek, and Amy Kukahiko always find time for a great big group hug.

Taking a look at the Future

We never thought the day would come when we would be the mighty seniors who would rule the school, but we were. We never thought the day would come when we would have to say good-bye, but we do. But we do so with a lifetime of memories and a handful of friendships. Never again will we walk down the halls of Comp as students, never again will we be asked where our Comp I.D. is, and never ever will we hear the words Pay Your Dooz! And never again will we come together as the spirited class of 2000. Most of us will leave with the certainty that what we learned and shared will guide us through every imaginable path and every unimaginable road block. Every graduate of the Class of 2000 has something special about them. Use it to your advantage and the Future will be in Your Hands.

Memories through the years

Memories are special moments that we as students cherish forever! They live on forever in our hearts and remind us of the good and fun times we have had together.

We the senior class have had memories which have fulfilled our hearts of happiness from the last four years here in high school. Therefore, we have much more to remember and share with you.

Brandon Bartosz remembers the time at Mitch's Marina when Matt Ryczek fell off the rope swing.

Ali Chapdelaine will never forget the time with Erica, digging through the dumpster, searching for a lost retainer.

Kara Rege remembers having to stand outside in the freezing cold during fire drills her freshman year.

Beth Parent will always remember running laps in gym class and getting sweaty pants shoved in her face by Joe Wall her freshman year.

Mike Hamel shares his memory of freshman year, meeting Kelley Hogan at a football game, when she spilled hot chocolate all over her gloves, and Mike being the gentleman that he is, offered her his gloves!

Scott Labrie fears to remember getting whacked in the eye by a golf club by Russ Authier in Frolics "99" of his junior year.

And, last but not least, probably one of those most memorable events that has taken place at CCHS our senior year which is shared by Geoff Gagnon and his memory of after over a decade, finally beating CHS in the sword game on our home field!!

Memories are visions of what happened in the past and to us seniors, they mean a lot to us! They are one last look at what everyone has experienced! We remember the moments that we've shared, have touched our hearts in such a way that will NEVER be forgotten.

High School is...

Through the years here we have learned a lot about ourselves and what life is about. Most of us have been through our first job, getting our licenses and the excitement of having our first car (no matter how bad a piece of junk it is!) We think that we have learned, yet we have so much more maturing to achieve. After all is said and done, we will hopefully have learned something about the choices we have made and still have to make.

High school is a game of choices. These choices we choose, make us the people we are and will become. Throughout high school we have had to make some pretty tough choices. Many people have different ideas on what they think high school is, but high school is not one idea. It is made of many views compiled into one.

What high school is not about is the crowd you hang with, or the clothes you wear. It's not about who you impress, or who accepts you and who doesn't. It's not about who you date, who you like, or who likes you. It's not about what you do on the weekends, or the parties you get invited to. It's not about who's better than you, and who's not. It's not about race, sexuality, or where you come from. It's not about who has a job and how much money you make. It's not about who wins the games and who doesn't.

High school is about the people you meet and the friends you make. It's about who you love and who you hurt. It's about liking yourself and living up to your own expectations. It's about reaching your own goals, and pleasing yourself, not others. It's about the unknown, knowing that we don't know what comes next. It's about expecting the best from what you give. It's about trusting yourself and finding assurance knowing that you don't need to feel jealous. It's about the responsibility of depending on yourself, relying on the knowledge that you've collected and knowing that you can do anything you set your heart on. It's about having the courage to apologize for the wrongs you've made, and for having the courage to admit that things you may have said might not have been the things you meant. It is up to us to make the difference because the future is in our hands.

The First Three Classes of the New Millennium

The junior crew: Mike Abbott, Danielle Maynard, Scott Martin, and Priscilla Badger getting close for a picture. Unfortunately Jay Siudak didn't know where to look.

Comp's underclassmen have a lot to be excited about. They are the first three classes of the new millennium.

Juniors, having only one year left to capture the memories, will soon be making college plans and figuring out what they will do after they graduate. The sophomores have that horrible feeling that high school will never end. On the other hand they are just happy they don't have to pass the MCAS. Freshmen, unhappy about having to pass the MCAS to graduate, are thrilled by all the new excitement and challenges brought on by high school. These three classes will be led to the future by the guiding hands of the Class of 2000.

-Richard Hurley

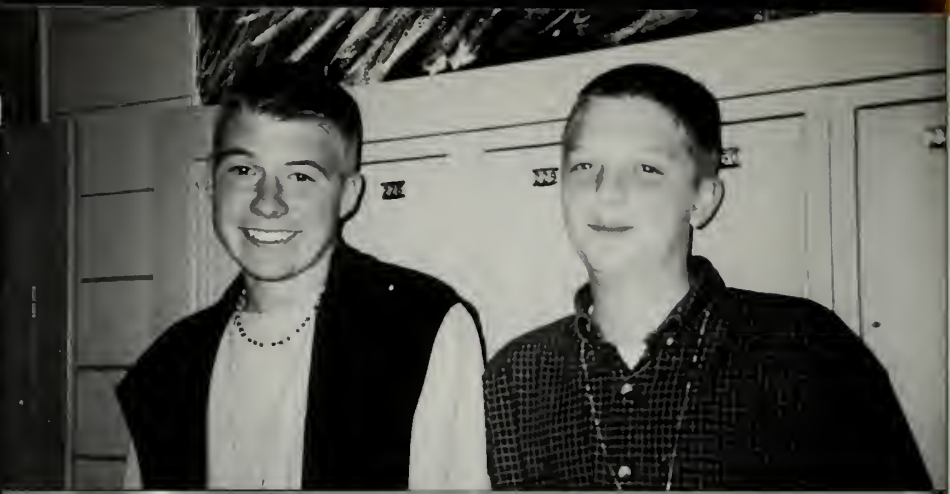

Chillin in the 3rd floor hallway are sophomores Maria Michelakis, Aggie Jarzynska, Cara Bator, and Jessica Aubrey who love to show the true meaning of friendship.

These two freshmen, Laura Barrows and Angela Bouchard, show all you need is a little support from a friend to get through the first year.

Molding the Minds of the Future

"The mind has exactly the same power as the hands; not merely to grasp the world, but to change it."

-Colin Wilson

Teachers and students are comrades in the war against a desolate future. Teachers prepare us for the world after high school with the hope that we will accomplish something great. By uncovering our hidden talents, they encourage students to become more involved in fulfilling activities. Some teachers act as mentors who know we are capable of accomplishing many great things and help us along the way.

Most importantly, teachers give us knowledge. This knowledge is preparing us for the world. Vocational teachers instruct their students with practical knowledge that applies to their future careers. Academic teachers enlighten us with the core studies which give us the basic skills we need to succeed. Teachers of art, music, and other creative subjects help to expand the views that students have of the world.

Many teachers go beyond educating during school hours. Teachers advise clubs such as drama, Academic Decathlon, National Honor Society, and the Art Club. There are also teachers who commit their time to coaching sports like soccer, football, and cross country. Some teachers go beyond the call of duty and dedicate their time to working as a class advisor. They are all role models who show us that helping others is more important than helping yourself.

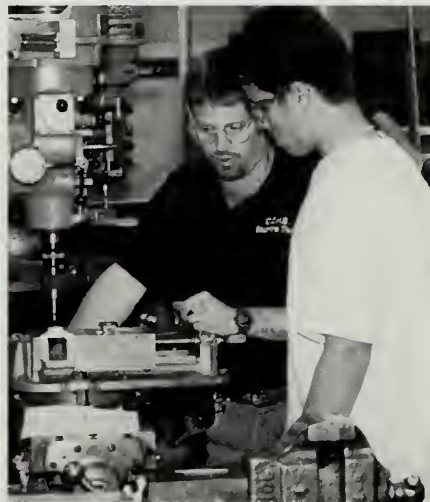

Teachers make our chances for success in the future grow along with our knowledge. Students learn about the importance of teamwork from their coaches. From the band director and the drama coach, students learn that hard work brings the best results. Teachers help us to realize that we can make a difference in the world.

-Kimberly Such

Faculty shares teaching experiences

Throughout one's high school years, you study, have fun, and meet new people. There are also those people who have an impact on your life.

Teachers share a big part of a student's life. Teachers are there to listen, and most of all, they are there to help. Students can learn from teachers just as much as teachers can learn from students.

Each student grows in a different way due to the influence of each teacher. Even if you don't know it, you move a step closer to the person you will be in the future. Teaching is a cycle that is never ending, as is learning. Here, some teachers share their experiences from their teaching years.

English teacher Debra McCarthy enjoys listening to students sharing their thoughts and feelings about different things: "I love to see young, creative minds at work." McCarthy says everyday is a new experience to share with her students.

English teacher Gina Potorski said, "The students are energetic when it comes to learning, and absolutely hilarious when it comes to everything else."

Business Department head Susan Feyre likes the interaction with students and when they are independently successful with the task at hand. Feyre said, "We can all make a positive difference in our life and in that of others through our determination, hard work, and enthusiasm."

Building a house takes a lot of work. Jason Suidak gets ready to take on the challenge for his drafting project.

Ernie Orcutt says it's the perfect way to start off my afternoon in Auto Tech, by starting a see through engine.

Preparing for the future

The Vocational Department gives students the opportunity to explore their minds and work towards the future. Students in vocational learn about skills and techniques that they need to achieve their goals. Pupils who take courses in vocational help to make the world run smoothly.

Courses in this important portion of Comp help to prepare students for careers such as industrial electricians, diagnostic technicians, and dietician. The pupils are able to get valuable hands-on experience in areas like automotive body repair, electronics, landscaping, drafting, and metal fabrication.

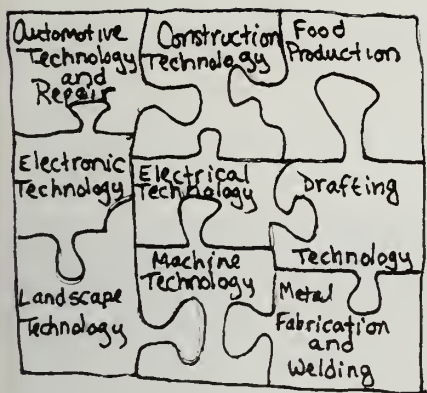

The world gains so much from the experienced people who work in the fields aforementioned. Where would people live without housing? How would they communicate? What would their means of transportation be? Who wants to find out?

-Kimberly Such

Justin Lafountain gets ready for hard day's work in carpentry by starting off planing a board.

TECHNOLOGY

Starting on a new project means new information. Mr. Augusto explains the technique on repairing the door to Brian Bangle during Auto Body.

Stirring up something new in Culinary Arts Danielle Bell and Yalene O'Neill stand over a hot fire and cook up something good.

Keeping this school in top shape takes a lot of time. Mr. Ziembra helps Scott Morin repair a computer monitor in Electronics.

Auto Rep.

AUTO BODY

Buffing to perfection. Matt Taft buffs a car door, one of the jobs students learn in the shop.

Students learn the basics and more

In Auto Body One students are taught the basics. Students learn basic auto body safety and basic preparation along with masking, sanding, primer, and block sanding. The use of plastic filler and repairs to small dents are also done.

Students in this class do some different projects throughout the year. The students remove and replace panels by Mig welding. They use plastic filler on the body panel. Spraying primer and block sanding is also a project done.

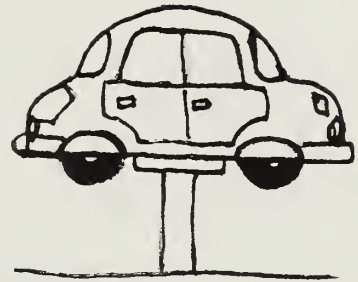

Getting ready to start a job. Andy Cote tapes off the windows before getting to work.

"Hey! Isn't that my shirt you're using?!" Chad Bassett cleans a window in Auto Body.

AUTO TECHNOLOGY

Auto Tech

See anything interesting up there?! Tom Joly checks out a car during the morning shop.

Students learn how to make repairs in Auto Tech.

The students in Auto Technology learn many different repairs throughout the year. In the class students are taught how to repair driveability problems. They perform tune-ups, engine performance diagnosis, and emissions system repairs. The students also work on electrical systems, computerized engine controls, and fuel injection systems.

One of the more interesting projects was a series of steps done to a car that can be used in the classroom. The students connected a vehicle into a mock-up trainer, and mounted it on a rolling cradle. The vehicle was cut in half. The exhaust, fuel, and brake systems were modified to get them running. The car can be used in a classroom to teach engine management systems.

Testing a car for problems. Jon Bingle hooks up a car to the computer to see what's wrong.

Working hard to get the job done. Mike Atwood and Mike Lapite look over an engine.

Carpentry

John Batchelor reads over his plans before he starts on his new project.

Students keeping busy

Students interested in Carpentry are taught all aspects of Carpentry. Some topics covered are foundations, floor framing, and wall and ceiling framing. Roof framing, exterior finish, and interior finish are also covered by the students in Carpentry.

Students in Carpentry are always busy with projects. A few of the interesting projects done by the students of Carpentry are the new ticket booth used for admission of school events such as football and soccer games. Bleachers and stairs for the baseball field were also projects done by the students last year as a great addition to our school.

The most recent project done by the students was the eight foot by eleven foot tool shed for the greenhouse. The greenhouse was also another great addition to our school this past year.

A large field house was built onto the back of Bellamy School by Carpentry students also.

Drafting

Drafting

Drafting

Drafting materials including a compass, pencil, a ruler, and drafting books are a very important part of drafting.

Junior Heather Gondek uses the "AUTOCAD" program and other drafting equipment to help her out.

Drafting Technology

Drafting students begin their three year study into Drafting Technology by understanding how traditional draftsmen used pencils, scales, erasers, triangles, and drawing boards to complete complex drawing assignments with a high degree of accuracy and neatness. C.A.D. (Computer Aided Drafting) is a major part of how designers and drafters design and manufacture parts. Using high powered CAD work stations, students learn the inner workings of how computers can help complete drawing tasks with great ease and a lot of functionality.

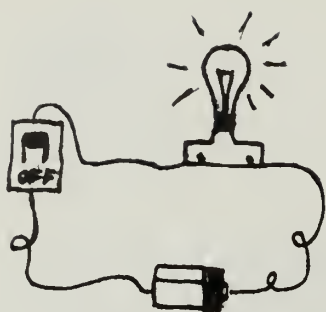

Some of the technical CAD applications students do are showerhead Adapter design, Yo-Yo designs, foot-peg designs, and steam engine detail. Some of the architectural CAD applications are redesigning classroom spaces for maximum efficiency, Annex, TeleCommunication Building, Laflamme's Garden Center, end table, and a two story addition to a modern ranch style house.

Sophomore Brian Bonafilia calculates out his numbers for the drafting project he is working on.

Electrical

Students learn the fundamentals

Students in the Electrical Shop learn fundamentals of residential, commercial, and industrial wiring methods. Students learn about electrical circuits and electrical codes to go along with these methods.

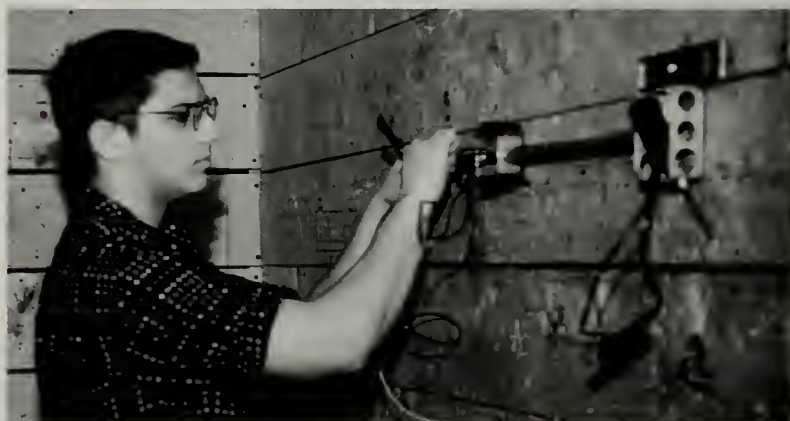

The projects in the class vary. For example the freshman class makes a lamp out of a soda can and an extension cord. Other classes learn to install oil burners, electrical motors, and motor controllers, etc. The older students also get to travel around the school. They install and repair equipment in the other vocational shops and other classrooms.

"Shhh!! I'm rewiring the computer system! Don't tell anyone!" says junior Dave Netkovick.

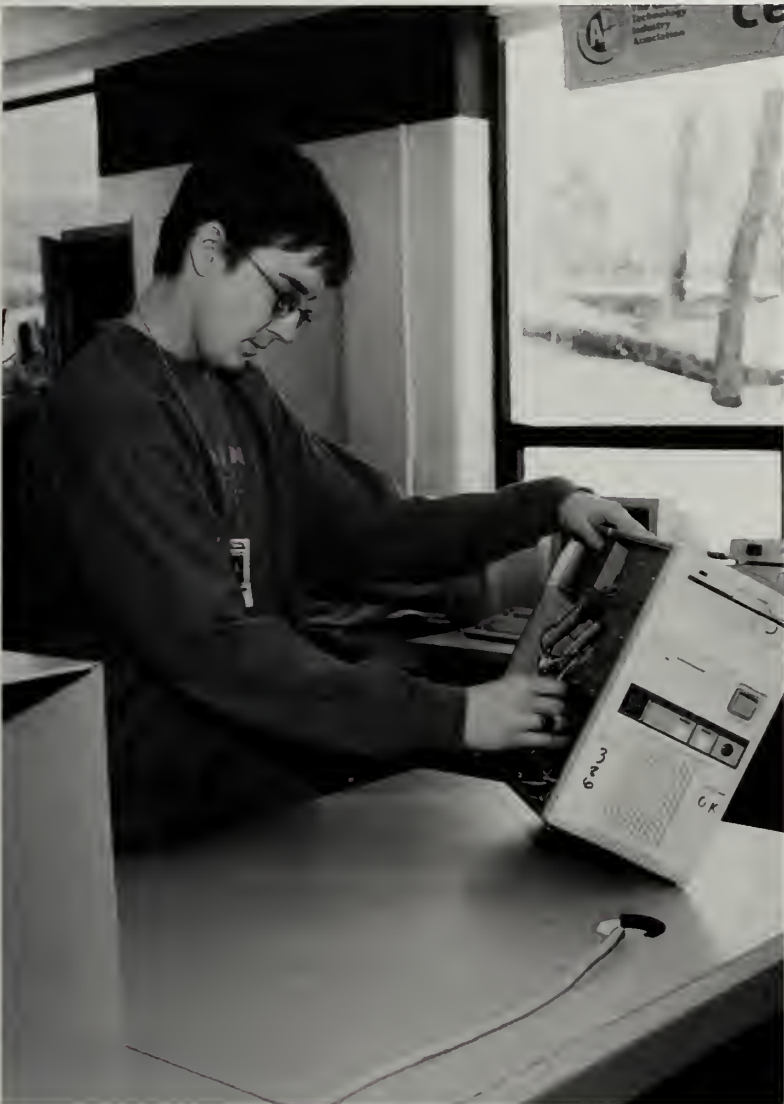

How about keeping your eye on the project?! Junior Greg Menard.

Electronics

ELECTRONICS

network the world!

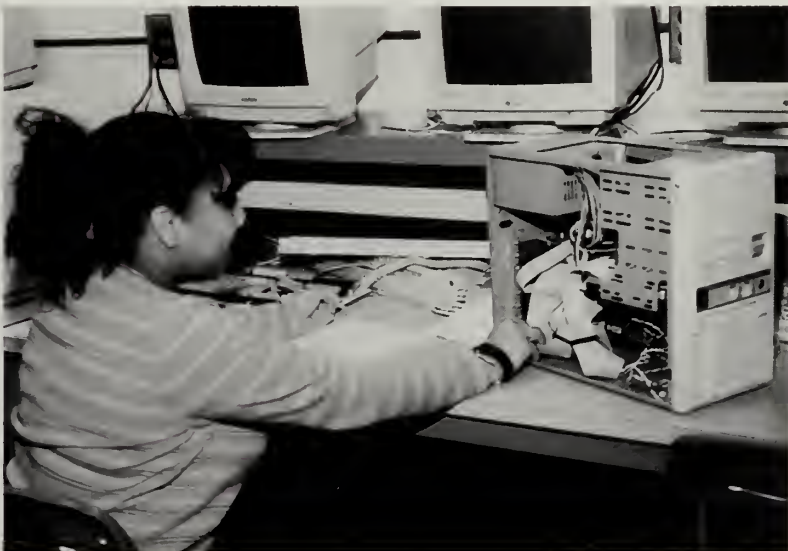

Students in the Electronics course are taught the fundamentals of electronics, digital systems, fiber optics, computer repair, networking, and surface mount technology. This year students designed and build power supplies; built, troubleshooted, and maintained computers; networked computers together; built an amplifier and an AM-FM radio.

Junior and senior students learn about digital techniques and microprocessors. They got to build computers, fiber optic connections, and digital meters.

See! You can still be silly when working with electrical equipment! Smiling Shawn Ward and Serious Daniel Maldando.

"Who stuck all this white stuff in here??!!" asks junior Maria Cabezudo.

Food Production

Good experience and lots of fun for the chefs of Compachinos

Food Production is a great class for those students who wish to pursue a career in culinary arts. The students learn many things from the general principles of cooking, care and handling of professional culinary tools, study of food sanitation and procedures and principles of kitchen management, to planning, international cuisine, and dining room service. Also baking, cake decorating, nutrition and vegetarian cuisine are taught.

One project the students in Food Production do is designing gingerbread houses. They write a report researched on the Internet to present their houses.

The class gives good experience and useful knowledge for the students. As you can see, students do much more than cook. They learn all the tricks and trades of culinary arts. Melissa King states, "This class is great. It's giving me a lot of experience that I'll more than likely use in my future as a pastry chef."

Garrett Meckling says, "The teachers and the environment could not be better."

The Food Production is overall a great course to take if you're interested in learning everything about cooking. It also contributes to our school with their meals made especially for us served at Compachinos.

Valerie O'Neil places the last candle on her pretty little cake made in Bake Shop.

"Better Creme!" Jon Dulchinos shows off his special ingredients.

Ready to bake a delicious treat, Jessie Holloman puts his food in the oven.

Landscaping

Mark Stafinski gets ready to use the landscaping machinery to help out around the school.

Students and Hands on Projects

Landscaping students cover topics such as agriculture, plant propagation, safe operation of equipment and proper safety techniques required in tractor operations. Students also use their computer skills in the form of a C.A.D. (Computer Aided Drafting) Landscaping Design Program.

Horticulture students start off with an explanation on garden techniques and growing strategies. Many of the students have a chance to use some of the great machinery such as tractors and other landscaping machinery. The students use some of this landscaping machinery as a helping hand to the school. Students can be seen clearing snow or cutting the school's lawn.

Seasonal projects having to do with different holidays and events are done by many of the landscaping students. The students also participate in many off-campus projects for the city of Chicopee. Some of the projects include planting for the Park and Recreation Department, projects for the school department, and a Home Show project done yearly by the students. This year's Home Show project was a retaining wall with a built in garden.

MACHINE SHOP

Three divisions inspire amazing projects

Karill Bazukin measures and prepares for his project using the lathe machine.

Machine Shop is divided into three divisions. The freshmen division is known as Explore Y2K, the junior division is Machine II, and the third division, which includes sophomores and seniors, Machine Technology.

Explore Y2K is an introductory program focusing on "Discovery Learning." Students have the opportunity to manufacture simple projects from metals in a technically, progressive environment. The freshmen program manufactures projects such as brass baseball bats, key fobs, and aluminum bicycle pegs.

Machine II is a continuation program focused on application, reinforcements and further development of manufacturing skills. The program introduces students to CAD (Computer Aided Drafting) and the programming of CNC (Computerized Numerical Control) equipment. Juniors in this program are encouraged to extend their conceptual and manufacturing skills on complex assemblies such as vintage steam engines.

Machine Technology is a mixed program of sophomores and seniors where they learn the setup and operation of conventional and computerized machine tools including blueprint interpretation, shop math and formulas, computer aided design and computer aided manufacturing. Exciting projects included manufacturing the key to the city for Mayor Kos, for Channel 22's move to the city of Chicopee.

-Jeanne Ruell

Concentration is on the face of Nick Golba as he sets up his tools for his project which is also on the lathe machine.

Using modern technology, Jeff Durand observes the setup and observation of conventional and computerized machine tools.

Welding

Putting final touches to ensure all safety, Jeff Morrisette is repairing a stool from a biology class.

Creating a point for his tool, Brian Gawron gets tools ready for a long, hard day of welding.

METAL FABRICATION

Welding the World Together

Metal Fabrication of steel focuses on ornamental ironwork of tables and benches using arc welding, T.I.G. welding, and M.I.G. welding processes. The students work from blue prints or sketches to fabricate and weld various projects. The students worked on picket fences sections and park benches.

Welding is the process of joining separate pieces of metal in a continuous metallic bond. In the processes that are commonly used, the metal at the joining point is melted; additional molten metal is added as a filler and the bond is allowed to cool. M.I.G. welding has become the most popular welding process used in industry today because of its versatility and ability to weld in a variety of positions.

Argon-arc welding is widely used with metals such as stainless steel, aluminum, magnesium, and titanium. The use of argon prevents slag, or waste left after the melting of ore, from forming in the weld and increases the speed of the welding.

The T.I.G., tungsten inert gas, welding process is generally used when fine, high quality welding is required, especially when welding aluminum and stainless steel. This welding process produces extremely high temperatures and allows pinpoint control of heat over a small area.

These welding processes are used frequently in the industrial world. This means that metal fabrication students are getting prepared for their future.

Competing for the Future

Sports. To many of us athletes at Comp, sports are nothing more than "something to do" after school, a diversion. We play without even thinking about it. After all, sports are fun.

We learn from them, though. Just as "the future is in our hands," the game or match we play is in our hands. The courage, effort, and work we put into competing at sports shows us how to compete in life, in our own futures.

Comp's athletes always competed, from beginning to end. We played hard, gave the effort. The lessons learned are valuable, and we will take them with us forever. The lessons learned will help us as we shape the future that lies in our waiting hands.

The future is near, and for our senior athletes, the future is here. The blood, sweat, and tears that have been put in makes us better people... people with strong character, conviction, and spirit.

Injuries hobble gymnasts throughout the season

Throughout the year, gymnasts were dropping like flies due to injuries. The injuries consisted of everything from sprains to concussions and everything in between. Both co-captains Sabrina Cote and Liz Viets were out at one point because of a concussion and sprain. Sophomore Jen Kuc was out the whole season with a torn ACL. Others were injured as well.

Despite the setbacks, the gymnastics team, led by Coach Sandi Barrett and Assistant Coach Tina Perreault, kept their heads up and tried their best.

"It's been a rebuilding year full of injuries, but we were a young team with a lot of potential," said Coach Barrett.

According to freshman Emily Chagnon, "We had our good meets and bad meets, but we managed to pull through and stick together."

The girls finished the year off with an exhibition. Next year's outlook seems good. "We had a tough year due to injuries but we have a lot of new girls with a lot of hidden talent. I believe that next year is going to be a great season," stated coach Perreault.

The team stayed together and got through the injuries, they did their best and had fun.

Injuries factor in season while team shows unity

The end of the season seemed to never come for the lady Colts soccer team. The girls went through a long, discouraging season with many downfalls and injuries. Several members of the team showed just how tough they were by finishing the season despite the pain. Andrea Paul and Katie Thompson started back slow due to knee surgeries last spring. Mandy Roberts missed a majority of the season due to severe neck injury, yet came back strong for the team in the end. The team missed Alexez LaMountain's speed when she suffered from a sprained hip flexor. Coach Julie Pavoni said, "I thought all of the players worked hard every day. There were many injuries but most players fought through the pain and continued to work hard."

Through all the disappointment this group of courageous girls learned two very valuable lessons. The first lesson they learned was how to come together and unite as a team. They showed many ways in which they did this whether it was a spaghetti dinner, a sleep over, braiding each other's hair, or just hanging out. The second lesson they learned was that things can only go up from here! "Next year's goal is one demanded upon ourselves that we will learn how to win," said Heather Gondek.

In the end the girls came out winless, but are very optimistic about next season. "The seniors will surely be missed but hopefully the juniors and sophomores can step up next year so we can have a few more wins than this season," said Pavoni. The team would also like to wish the seniors the best of luck in their future aspirations and endeavors.

Season better off than expected

This year's boys' soccer team went 7-8-1 despite having only fifteen players. The tri-captains, (Jeff Sawyer, Dan Murphy, and Matt Therrien) did an excellent job getting the team prepared. Chris Schindler, Adam Binczewski, and newcomer Nate Howell helped out with senior leadership. Juniors Mark Rakowski, Ross Domingos, Matt Chagnon, Chris Rzeszutek, and Bobby Arcott helped bring the younger players to the varsity level. Rounding out the team were freshman Andrew Provost and sophomore Brian Russell.

"Injuries really hurt us at the end of the season," Jeff Sawyer commented. The team struggled through injuries during the season. The team had a lot of talent but not much depth, so when someone was hurt it was hard to replace them. Team Captain Dan Murphy stated, "This season was fairly successful despite all the injuries we were forced to deal with. But at the same time it was disappointing because we were not able to go to the tournament because of the injury factor."

-Kara Rege

A welcomed surprise ends the season on a "good note..."

The girl's cross-country team ended its season on a positive note after a slow start. As Coach Neil Martell said, "This season started on a bad note, but ended on a good note." Individually one teammate accomplished an amazing feat. Sophomore Heather Wenninger came in first at the Western Mass Competition. Throughout the season she improved her time by 47 seconds, which is unbelievable. Heather said she accomplished one of the goals that she has set for herself during her high school running career. She added, "This season was fun because everyone got along."

Let's not forget that this team was made up of five seniors who were happy about their years on the team, and they will never forget the memories that they made. Also the other underclassmen showed that this team has a bright future. Sophomore Stacey Parker said, "that the team ended very well and hopefully we will do better next year." The great thing about this year's girl's cross-country team was that their team chemistry allowed them to try their best to succeed individually. Next year should be very exciting for Heather and the other underclassmen and they will have much success.

"I'm almost there!" sophomore Krista Langlois keeps telling herself while she tries to complete the course.

"Did I pull a muscle?" sophomore Stacey Parker asks, as she looks in pain during this difficult journey.

Promise for a better future for the boys x-country team

It was a tough season for the team. With the loss of many runners due to graduation or other sports, it wasn't exactly the greatest season. There were only three returnees and seven new runners. As a result, freshmen had to fill in which made for quite a challenge. But the boys worked hard.

Although it was a rough season, there is hope for a better season next year. There are a number of promising freshmen along with MVP's Jordan Pare and David Forrette, the top two runners, all returning next year.

"There were a couple disappointing losses, especially the ones lost by one point which could have been won. But there is promise for the future," stated coach Domenico Casolari. An enthusiastic Jerod Laflamme said, "Bring it on! I'm ready for next year to kick butt!"

Chicopee Comprehensive's golf team faced a harsh reality with the loss of three seniors from the previous year's team due to graduation. With no senior experience to lead them, the Colt golfers did their best to compete, gaining much valuable experience along the way. They finished with a win-loss record of 6-14.

"It was a good year. We didn't play well in the middle part of the year, but we had a lot of fun," co-captain Justin Franczek summed up.

Most of the other golfers agreed. Sophomore Kevin Moriarty commented that, "We didn't play too well this year, but we had fun. We improved a lot as a team!"

This improvement will only help the Colts in the future. Coach Bill Dobiecki commented, "All players saw varsity match action. This will only help us next year. None of them will be intimidated. We truly expect to make the Western Mass. Tournament next year."

Franczek believes brighter days are ahead for future Comp teams as well. "We will come back strong next year; we didn't lose any seniors!"

Colts win "the game of our lives," then struggle with injuries

It was a season of ups. It was a season of downs. Chicopee Comp's 1999 Football team began its season to joyous cheers after beating the hated Chicopee Pacer football team for the first time in ten years in a stirring come-from-behind victory. Winning the Sword was something that not even the Colts Superbowl contenders of a few seasons ago could accomplish.

Then reality set in. According to Assistant Coach, Marc Schuerfeld: "We were injury-riddled. Fourteen key players, starters, went down during the course of the season with serious injuries."

With all those key players out hurt, the Colts had a difficult time competing with the teams on their Division AA Conference schedule.

"We won the game of our lives, then struggled with injuries. After that, nobody really expected much from us," sophomore quarterback Tony Couture commented.

Many Colts had a hard time putting their bittersweet season into words. Senior Gary Perreault noted that "It was my last season, and as disappointing as it was, I know I can look back and say I was a part of the team that got the Sword back."

Most of the other players agreed. Co-captain Mike Hamel said "It was great beating Chicopee High in my senior year, but we should have won more."

Still, the Colts held their heads high and continued to compete. Schuerfeld expressed pride in his team, stating that "the players have nothing to be ashamed of. They showed character and they never quit."

Gotcha! Defensive back Jeremy Hartbarger tackles Pacer's quarterback Matt Pasterczyk (10) during the Colt's Sword Game victory. The Colt's tightened second-half defense helped them to reel off 22 straight points and close the game with a 36-28 victory.

WE WIN! Center Mike Sheehan laughs as tackle Mike Hamel (53) shows his feelings after the Colt's stunning victory over the Pacers. The two played an important role in the Colt's season with their strong blocking and leadership.

What's up now, Colt fans! Co-captain Geoff Gagnon (19) leads the celebration as the Sword Game ends. The game was the first victory over the arch-rival Chicopee Pacers in ten years.

Hut...hut...hike! Junior quarterback Jeremy Shlosser barks out the play. Coach Wally Desautels' unorthodox decision to rotate Tony Couture and Shlosser at quarterback proved key in the Sword Game victory.

Touchdown! John Dietel (80) celebrates after crossing the goal line with a touchdown reception. Dietel's size and strength at tight end were one of the Colt's greatest assets on offense.

Through injury and hardship the cheerleaders show unity

The Comp cheerleaders began the year with high hopes and expectations to attain many goals. Soon, their dreams were shattered when team members began making the decision to quit. Due to the increasing number of teammates deciding they could not handle the hard work, their coach also chose to back out. She felt it was her time to retire and that is just what she did. These choices left the girls with half a team and no coach.

The girls that remained knew, however, that they would still compete come winter. The junior varsity coach, Charlene LaPlante, rose to the challenge and became the varsity coach, turning just half a team into a competition squad. It was going to be more work than any of them had ever expected. The road became bumpier as they believed they would not be able to prepare for this season, but their new coach stood by them through it all. They moved five junior varsity girls up making the team more than half freshmen, all with no cheerleading backgrounds. These girls knew one thing, and one thing only, they wanted to compete more than anything.

With a lot of hard work and determination these fifteen amazing girls and their trusty coach reached their goal of competing. They have proven they have all the people they need to achieve whatever goal they set out to conquer as long as they stick together.

Basketball team succeeds, makes WMass quarterfinals

Adversity. When faced with it, a team can do one of two things: fold and throw in the towel, or play through it and succeed.

Clearly, the basketball team succeeded, turning around a doubtful season to finish with an 11-11 record and a spot in the WMass tournament quarter-finals, where the Colts fell to Holyoke.

Faced with the possibility of missing the WMass tournament unless the Colts could win a tenth game, Comp won a barnburner at Minnechaug in their second-to-last game regular season game, with Curt Kosiog finishing with a career-high twenty-five points to go and twenty boards. Phil Hale contributed a career-high twenty points against Minnechaug, including a perfect six for six from three-point range.

"I was pretty pumped up," Hale said of the Minnechaug game. "I wanted to win so we could make the tournament."

Varsity coach Dan Franczek expressed admiration for his team's attitude in the Minnechaug game. "I was impressed with our determination and desire in that game, players one through twelve," he said. "We didn't fold, we responded to the challenge. I don't think there was any denying us on that night."

The eleventh-seeded Colts reached further into their magic hats in the WMass tournament, pulling off an upset of the sixth-seeded Lancers at Longmeadow. A Hale jumper with 8.2 seconds left gave the Colts a one-point victory in a thrilling game that featured 17 lead changes between the two teams.

"We won that game [in Longmeadow] because we played as a team. We didn't care about our own scoring, we got the ball to the guys getting the job done," co-captain Jeff Sawyer stated. "We played with heart. I liked being the underdog--it gave us the chance to prove everybody wrong."

John Dietel greatly enjoyed his one-year experience as a member of Comp's basketball team. He said, "Making it as far as we did in the playoffs was a lot of fun and a great experience. I will always remember our win against Minnechaug that got us into the tournament and our win against Longmeadow once we were there. And I will never forget Phil's shot."

Coach Franczek had no problem giving reasons why Comp succeeded at crunch time. "We had good senior leadership, and the kids on the team enjoyed being with one another. We also became a much stronger, deeper basketball team as the season progressed, and that helped a lot," he said.

Eyeing the rim, Andy Brach (32) readies himself to sky for a rebound. Brach was a key part to the Colts bench, subbing in at both small forward and power forward.

Rebounding animal Curt Kosiog (51) grabs the ball away from Pacers Larry Hoskins (32) and Mike Richardson (25). Kosiog finished the game with a career-high 22 rebounds.

Varsity Team-- Front Row: Dan Lamothe, Billy Skinner, co-captain Nate Howell, co-captain Jeff Sawyer, Tony Couture, Vitaly Dzhenezherukha. Ready to go, the Colts bench watches the beginning of a game at Chicopee High and waits for their turn to make a difference in the game. On most nights, the Colts bench went nine deep and provided a great lift for the team.

Readying himself for the rebound, forward Ryan Sullivan (35) eyes an airborne free throw. Sullivan came back after a year's absence in the Comp basketball program to lend a boost to the Colts frontcourt, starting most games at power forward.

Slashing to the basket, Nathan Howell (23) uses a cross-over dribble to move past a Longmeadow defender en route to the basket. Howell's baseline drives were important to Comp's offense, especially in the Longmeadow playoff game where he contributed 17 points in the clutch.

Releasing the ball, sniper/defensive whiz Jeff Sawyer (20) launches a three-pointer over Pacers defender Erik Henry (15). The three-pointer was a staple in the Colts offense, especially for Sawyer, who hit as many as five three-pointers in a game.

Lady Colts make it to the tournament

The Comp girls' basketball team started out with eleven players. By the end of the season there were only eight players left. The two senior captains were Sara Breault and Kara Rege. The juniors were Kiley Lapointe, Julie Kukahiko, and Amber Patruno. The sophomores were Alexez Lamountain and Falon Maugaleoo. Rounding out the team was freshman Michelle Lebreque. Three quarters of the way through the season the team's record was five and ten. The Lady Colts had to win their last five games to make the tournament. They did it! For their tournament game they played at Amherst. The girls tried their hardest, but couldn't pull off an upset.

The Comp team struggles, but never gives up

It was a tough year for the Comp hockey team. It was a long and grueling season, but the team stuck together and kept on trying until the end.

The team won only three games, but whether or not they won or lost, they still had heart.

Mark Maciolek states, "This year was a rebuilding year for us. We gave it our all every game but didn't have the experience needed to win against good teams. Heart was there though. We never gave up."

He basically sums up the season.

With the help of Coaches Bowden and Badone and Captains Mike Abbott, and Scott Martin, the team hopes to make a comeback next year. The team is going to miss seniors Tim Kulig and Tim Fournier.

-Liz Viets

"Let's kick some butt" says Coach Badone as Mike Abbott (20), Jay Zak (4), and Scott Franceshina (22) rest during a timeout.

Charge!!! Tim Fournier sees a chance to steal the puck and he goes for it.

Tony Montemagni patiently awaits a pass from his teammate.

Goalie Jeff Derosia saves the day by blocking the puck.

"I can do it, I can do it" thinks Mike Abbott, hoping to score a goal, as he tries to escape being surrounded by two Chicopee High players.

Girls' swim team knows how to have fun!

Throughout the swim season, the CCHS girls' swim team looked on the bright side of things. No one gave up trying to improve. As junior Liz Delmonte says, "I think everyone is trying as hard as they can, and we still have fun together."

Some of the girls even broke their individual records this year and their teammates couldn't have been happier for them. Junior Jeanne Ruell stated, "Many swimmers have broken their own personal best this year including myself." Like most teams at CCHS this team knew how to have fun. Even though there were some frustrating moments, everyone stuck together as a team.

This year was a rebuilding year for the CCHS girls' swim team but the seniors made sure to have success. Beth Novak made Western Mass and she performed well. The team did well on their relays because as Freshman Larissa Perreault says, "Relays are our strengths." The team finished their season with a decent record and the girls learned a lot from each other. Next year this team is sure to have success.

Boys' swim team makes a splash

The boys' swim team had a great year. The team didn't have a complete winning season but they did better than they have in the past years. Many of the members improved on their times as well as a whole.

Senior Captain Dan Lafond commented on the team's strengths and weaknesses. "Our strengths lie in our numbers. We have significantly more male swimmers this year than in past years. Every member contributes points." Although there's no diving team, competitors can gain points without effort.

Junior Captain Rich Gadoury said, "All the players work to their ability. We may not swim hard all the time but we step up when needed and compete well."

Sophomore Nick Tourville said, "I think the team is doing pretty good considering last year the team only had two wins and this year we have six."

Overall, the team worked their hardest to achieve their goals. Lafond concluded, "We hope to continue to grow more as a team and as friends. We've had some very exciting swims where our best times have been achieved."

-Meredith Walker

Are you looking at me? says Dan Lafond. I'm not ready to swim yet!

With the slopes behind them, Mike Maciolek and Andrea Paul smile for the camera.

Cautiously on her way down, Cara Wahlgren looks to the bottom of the slope.

Exploding with speed, Senior Matt Therrien concentrates on making it to the finish line in the February Western Mass Championship meet at the Berkshire East ski area.

"Long way down!," thinks junior John Thornton as he goes for first place.

Excitement builds as Chris Nally performs a clean sweep.

Hittin' the Slopes with hopes of first place

Despite the slow start to winter and the little snow, which gave almost no time for practice, the ski team prevailed to have a good year.

The boys team started off the year with a first place victory in their first race. The team consisted of four seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores. Senior Chris Nally was a big contribution to the team. Three of the members placed in the C League during the Western Mass Championships in February. Mike Maciolek placed 8th, Ross Domingos placed 9th, and Mike Wilson placed 11th. The boys team ended their season in third place in the C division.

The girls team consisted of a low number of five members due to injuries and lack of interest. Yet despite these hardships their year still went well. The team consisted of mostly juniors and one freshman, Gina Aube. Jessica Mykytiuk was the team's top performer and she placed 10th in Western Mass. Juniors Andrea Paul and Cara Wahlgren also had a solid year. Christine Major also greatly contributed to the year's success. The girls team placed 5th in the C division for the year.

As a whole both teams pulled together and made it through a lot of difficulty and still had a great year.

-Katie Demers

Racing with intensity towards the finish line, Mike Wilson speeds down the slope.

"Look at my skiing skills," says junior Ross Domingos as he flies down the hill at the Western Mass Championship meet this February at the Berkshire East Ski area.

Concentrating on his last shot, Jarrod Goss knows it is in the hole.

Hey! I'm over here. Rachel Pluta looks to receive a pass.

Soaring high off the ground, Renee Gagnon shows off a perfect jump while cheering on the basketball team at a home game.

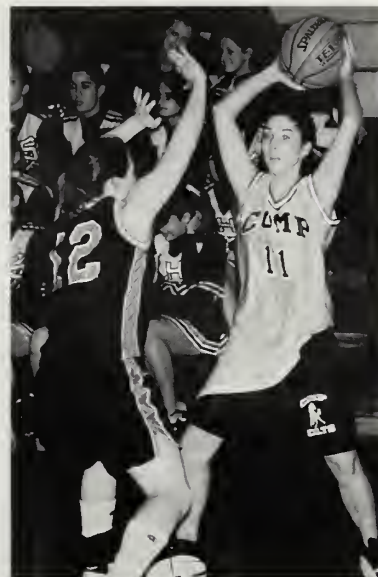

Get that hand outta my face! Sophomore Vitaly Dzhenzherukha rises above the competition as the Colts take on the Pacers.

Leading the pack, Angela Koziol races towards the finish line.

Racing down the slopes at Berkshire East, Ryan Tellier (56) shows off his skills.

Waiting with anticipation to pass the ball, Alexez Lamountain looks for a teammate against Longmeadow.

Going for the goal, Scott Godek makes his next move.

"Oh, did you want the ball?" Mark Maciolek (17) races towards the goal as the Colts faceoff against Amherst.

Following the Path to the Future

"Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road,
Healthy, free, the world before me,
The long brown path before me leading wherever I choose."
-Walt Whitman, from "Song of the Open Road"

Clubs and activities offers many paths for students to follow.
Activities are preparing some students for their prospective future careers, while other students join clubs just for the fun or the experience.

Clubs can help students prepare for a wide variety of careers, from the art field to the business field. Drama Club productions enlighten future theater majors with important knowledge. Future journalists are provided with hands-on experience in Publications. Leadership positions in clubs like the National Honor Society and Student Council are getting students ready for the stresses of the workplace.

Activities also provide students with unforgettable memories. Band members will never forget their band trip experiences. Spirit Week is definitely a noteworthy occurrence that Student Council organizes.
Being on stage gives actors a feeling that they could never forget.
The different paths that clubs and activities provide students with can help them to figure out what they want to do with their future.

Student Council

This year's student council has been keeping busy. Student council started off this year running the freshman orientation. The freshman orientation was run a lot differently than in past years and turned out to be very successful. Student council ran its second annual anti-violence campaign in November. Although the number of students who pledged to be anti-violent decreased, fortunately so did the school's number of fights. This year the student council put on its Christmas party at the Hadleigh House and ran its very successful Valentine's Dance, the first of its kind in many years.

One of the biggest jobs of the Student Council is Spirit Week. President Richard Hurley noted, "Spirit Week is the best and worst week for the Council because of all the strenuous hard work and the time consuming preparation. But seeing all the great activities go so smoothly and how much fun the students have, I also believe it's great to watch all the students come together as unified groups." Throughout the last three months of the school year the Council ran its Spring Celebration, the Senior Good-bye Party, and the Welcoming Committee.

NHS Donates Time... ...and Effort

The National Honor Society (NHS) is a group of students who not only excel in school but also contribute their time and effort to give back to their community and school. In order to be a member of NHS, a student must have a grade point average of an 85 or better. Throughout the year, the student must maintain this GPA, complete 20 hours of community service, and work together as a group on activities to give back to the community. "It is really important to give your time to the community because you become a more well rounded person as well as a more generous individual," senior Chrysanthe Courniotes commented.

This year NHS had a total of 70 members, 49 seniors and 21 juniors. The officers of NHS were Gary Perreault, president; Karen Geung, vice president; Katie Demers, secretary; and Matt Therrien, treasurer. The induction ceremony was held on December 7, 1999.

The National Honor Society also expects each and every member to display its ideals: scholarship, character, leadership, and service. As one can see, the members of NHS work very hard throughout the year to maintain these ideals; ideals which each member will take with them into their futures.

Jeanne Ruell completes her finishing touches.

Memini 2000 is a yearbook like no other, thanks to the new Journalism class. Although the amount of work is still significant, the participation and enthusiasm of the students in the journalism class made it possible. Our advisors, Mr. Stachura and Mr. Brown, have made Memini 2000 what it is with their determination and hard work. Under their guidance Memini 2000 has better captions, more coverage of what we want to remember, and a lot more variety than past years. The Journalism class allows the advisors to teach the Memini 2000 staff how to successfully put together a yearbook, from the page sketch to choosing pictures to writing captions. The class has saved much advisors' time due to the fact that the year book staff now puts all the pages into the computer. Memini 2000 is the first yearbook that has had a supplement for all the seniors in more than ten years.

Richard Hurley and Kim Such, the editors of Memini 2000, would like to thank all the yearbook staff members, Mr. Brown, Mr Stachura, and would like to congratulate everyone in the class of 2000. We would also like to thank Tabbatha Lafleur for helping to make our yearbook cover idea a reality.

Putting on their stage make-up, Allison Lapierre and Tabbatha Lafleur are eagerly awaiting their performances in Winterfest.

Welcome to the Wonderful World of Theater

From the Christmas play, Yours Truly, Jack Frost to Winterfest, the one-act play festival, the drama club has had yet another spectacular year. The Christmas play was presented in December at the Chicopee Tree Lighting Ceremony and also at Patrick E. Bowe Elementary School. Winterfest was performed twice in the Comp auditorium.

One big obstacle that drama club members faced was the cold and the flu. On the day the Christmas play was presented at Bowe School, half of the cast was sick and Mrs. Claus, who goes by the name of Mary Moran, suffered from a temperature of almost 101 degrees. Jessica Roy, the Counselor in Happily Never After, almost did not make it to the first performance of Winterfest due to a bout with the flu. Despite the problems, both of the performances went well.

The Drama Club is more than just a club to its members, it's a place to be themselves. Secretary of the Drama Club, Kim Such, shares her thoughts on the club: "Drama is a really important part of my high school career. The theater is a place where I let loose after a stressful day at school."

Together with Advisor Ms. Field, the members are able to experience the theater and learn a little bit more about themselves. Ms. Field says "it's an opportunity for students to take risks and explore other people's lives."

Giving the Gift of Music

From Tink to Drum Major... It's hard to believe that the past four years of my high school experience of learning and band participation is coming to an end. The memories of good friends, dedicated teachers and my supportive parents have been the highlight of this period of my life... and I am very grateful. I would also like to thank the wonderful people who have entered my life... my teachers and especially my music teachers at Anna E. Berry School, Bellamy Middle School and Chicopee Comprehensive High School. Their encouragement is something I will treasure for the rest of my life. I would also like to thank the Band Parents who have made me a part of their families as "the son they never had and the daughter they never wanted!" The Comp band members are such great friends and, like a family, we have had our ups and downs but we overcame them and had a great band year. We have proven we can do the impossible. Band is a part of me that I will always cherish. I would personally like to thank Mrs. Borowiec and Mr. Cushing for their time and effort given not only to me, but to everyone who needed it in band. I will miss you both. To all my fellow band members, I would like to thank you for your support and hope you all enjoy your memories like I do. Music is a gift that comes in different packages, I just hope it is a gift that stays forever in each and every one of us.

Academic Teams Know No Bounds

Setting no limits and knowing no bounds, ambitious students accept only excellence on the academic teams here at CCHS. No one knows what the future may hold, however, success is sure to be in the cards for these talented team members.

The academic teams at Chicopee Comprehensive include the Academic Decathlon Team, the Debate Team, the As Schools Match Wits Team, and REACH. The academic teams incorporate a unique blend of students who dedicate much of their time and effort to these activities. The determination of the academic team members has furthered their personal knowledge, as well as represented their school, helping Comp to be recognized among area schools.

Though the names of the teams may be different, all academic teams have one thing in common-a very hopeful, strong-willed team with many talented individuals. Whether your strong point is speech, essay, interview, or test-taking, the Academic Decathlon Team has a spot for you. Even if your rebuttal is not the strongest, if you have good speaking technique, the debate judges will not be too harsh on you. Our As Schools Match Wits Team prepares diligently on a regular basis in order to compete with other area teams. REACH members prepare to compete at their regional competition in the spring. The academic teams here at CCHS illustrate the many academic strengths of the students now and in the future.

The Comp Chronicle has its finger on the pulse of the events at CCHS. The staff was originally made up of 10 members. Editor-in-Chief Dan Lamothe started to get worried, not sure if 10 people could produce a school newspaper. But luckily the staff grew to 30 members.

"The newspaper is a great way to expose yourself to what's going on at school. You learn about stuff that you wouldn't normally be interested in," said Lamothe.

This year, the Chronicle featured such stories as "The Boy's Bathroom," "The National Honor Society Induction Ceremony," and the Homecoming of the Sword."

"I think that it's very informative and enjoyable," said Missy Hamel.

"I feel it has given me a good edge on learning to write," said senior Chris Nally.

"Working in an environment with others, teaches us how to communicate and put together many ideas into one," said senior Becky Picard.

Here's hoping this time honored tradition of reporting will continue for years to come.

Peer Education & Peer Mediation

A group of committed students headed by Mediation Coordinator, Mike Larkin, who help keep a peaceful environment at Comp make up peer mediation. A very successful program, peer mediation has helped on numerous accounts to settle differences between students at Comp.

Mediator Rachel Pluta said, "I think peer mediation has helped out a lot of kids in the school.

Everyone goes to mediation when they have a conflict."

Another group, Peer Education, dedicates their time to teaching younger kids the perils of growing up. It is made up of 13 students and is headed by Physical Education Department Head Steve Lemanski.

Peer Education student Leigh-Anne Johnson stated "What we teach is very helpful to young kids...It makes learning about drugs, self-esteem, and other issues of growing up fun."

Heather McGrath

Jeremy Bruso checks on the progress of a fifth-grade project at Lambert-Lavoie School. The students completed word puzzles learning about drugs.

Brian Dugre addresses the dangers of marijuana before a fifth-grade class at Lambert Lavoie School. Leigh-Anne Johnson and Jon Garrity watch in the background.

Jessica Downey speaks to a fifth-grade class at Lambert Lavoie school, telling them how to approach their project.

Mary Moran emphasizes her point before a listening class of fifth-graders at Lambert Lavoie.

Pondering another difficult question, Brian Dugre, Jon Garrity, and Tom Curtain think hard to come up with a good answer.

SADD, Multicultural Club, & Library Aides

Multicultural Club-

Front: Advisor Mrs. Zayas, Digna Almonte, Maria Cabezudo, President Liznayda Laguerre, Terenz Deleon, Joe Stokowski, and Melissa Pagan. Middle: Wanda Reyes, Luz Navarro, Clarissa Padilla, Clarin Padilla, Evette Nieves. Back: Luis Batancur, Jose Diaz, Miguel Ocampo, Vanessa Rivera, Marlena Acevedo, Bobby Jean Barcom.

Three school groups that allow students to better participate in making Chicopee Comprehensive great are Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD), the Multicultural Club, and the library aides. Each group contributes to improving the community at Comp in distinctive ways.

SADD, led by advisor Julie Pavoni, promotes positive thinking and actions. "We try to promote good decision making," she said. Events sponsored by SADD included a seat belt check and a 3-on-3 tournament. Proceeds raised by the tournament benefited the Nate D'Angelo Duquet scholarship fund. D'Angelo, who would have been a junior at Comp this year, died tragically in a car accident in August. SADD finds raising money for his scholarship fund especially appropriate because D'Angelo's team won the tournament last year.

The Multicultural Club promotes diversity, tolerance, and understanding between the races. Advisor Mrs. Zayas said: "We've done a lot of planning so far this year. We're planning a trip to Pennsylvania in early June. We'd like to meet the Amish and see sites like the Liberty Bell. We're also planning a show and a cultural lunch."

Library Aides organize books and keep the library running in a logical fashion. "It's not a bad job" says Heather Ecker, "It's actually a lot of fun."

Library Aides- Front: Kristin Piquette, Meredith Walker, Rebecca Picard, Danielle Gazaille, Aaron Ruel. Middle: Van Dao, Heather Ecker, Dan Lafond, Templar Hawley. Back: Jonathan Poulias, Matthew Ryczek, Vincent Bennett, Jesse Johnson, Elizabeth Adams.

Library Aide Van Dao returns books to the shelves.

Organizing the reference section of the library, library aides Meredith Walker and Rebecca Picard work as a team.

Jordon Pare and Jon Garrity are intensely working in their Visual Art class to recreate another picture with black and white paper cutouts.

Cassandra Guild, Cassandra Shirk and Anzhela Bazukin try to make a real picture into a cartoon by redrawing it in their drawing class.

Art Class students have fun and learn at the same time

If you want a fun way to express yourself and explore your talent, a good place to go is the Art Department. Our Art Department is one of the most widely used exploratory courses throughout the year.

Many different types of art are explored throughout the class such as figure drawing, still lifes, sculpture and paintings. Currently they are working on the Mandala designs (which means circle in Tibet) and the students are creating their own interpretation of their symbolic mandala. This shows how the mandalas are part of every culture throughout history.

Art Teacher Paula Fahey says that her favorite project that the students are doing is the Native American paintings, which incorporate actual drawings and symbolic language into their designs.

Chrissy Sheehan says her favorite project was the mandala. "It takes a while to make them so when your finished it feels like an accomplishment."

Art is a fun and creative way to express yourself. You can show off and improve your talents. It is a good way to learn new and interesting things while having fun.

-Danielle Gazaille

The Different Futures Coming Together

Co-editor of Memini 2000 Kimberly Such makes her grand entrance at last year's Junior Prom with date Greg Tiner.

In a school with over 1300 students and 125 faculty members, it's incredible how many different life experiences and activities take place at Comp. Just some of these experiences are making new friends, proms, cotillions, sporting events and dating. Making new friends is a big deal to any high school student. What's unbelievable is the amount of friendships you will gain and lose over just a short four years. And then there's proms and cotillions. Who knew blowing $300 on one night could be so much fun. Now who could forget the sporting event where nearly 500 students ran out onto the football field because Comp had just won the sword in a triumphant victory over Chicopee High. With about 20 different clubs and activities at Chicopee Comp, students have every opportunity to keep busy. Comp students are able to meet new people and make a mark on the school by joining these groups. The life experiences and activities that all of us have gone through at Comp will not only help us to cope with the future but will guide us into the new millennium.

-Richard Hurley

Having an egg-cellent time in the world of Physics are Tina Beecham and George Morash. They are pictured here in anticipation that their trebuchet is a success.

Having fun in the sun are Neil Dombek, Chris Nally, Sean Turconi, and Matt Therrien at Amy Kukahiko's house. Obviously the guys are just having another run of the mill "Who is the Strongest Man" Competition. By the looks of it, there is no clear-cut winner.

At the Class of 2000 Junior Prom, Kris and Kim Catarino along with Chrysanthé Courniotes seem to be having a great time and looking very beautiful as well, a deadly combination.

A group of senior guys showing they have the most school spirit at the sword game. These Spirited Seniors are Jeff Morgan, Aaron Cote, and Brandon Provost.

As usual Reghan Garton and Kate Boucher are the life of the party. These two juniors are having the time of their life at the Cotillion.

It is unbelievable how much time a student spends at their locker. Let's say, for instance, a person goes to their locker on a low of 3 times a day. With 180 school days a year, the person goes to his or her locker 540 times a year. These locker goers are Caitlin Lord, Jenn Fredette, Jay Rhodes, and Karen Archambeault who decided to take a quick pic between class.

We all looked so different back in the day. It's hard to believe that the little ones in these pictures will be going into the real world next year. Our lives have changed so much since these pictures. We have gone from diapers to diplomas! We have all met our best friends, learned a little bit about life and its obstacles, and become the person that we will be for the rest of our lives.

What makes you such good friends?

Seniors Rebecca Picard and Jasmin Mastej agree on why they are such good friends: "She's always there for me. She helps me with all my problems because she's gone through a lot of the same things."

"She's my Kool-Aid Girl! That's all there is to it." says senior Jillian Pare. "She makes me laugh, and there are a lot of memories, good and bad." says senior Janelle Parker.

"Audrey has always been there for me when I've needed her. She's a great friend to me," states Jeremy Olech of Audrey Amo.

"Steph is just so goofy!" states junior Elizabeth DelMonte. "Liz is self-explanatory. She's funny, nice, weird, NUTS!" junior Stephanie Gagne explains.

Sophomores Patricia Ryan and Kiana Casey are friends because they're there for each other if they need to be.

A close friendship is something to treasure. A perfect example are seniors Christopher Albert and Audrey Amo.

Friendships that Last a Lifetime

Three is not a crowd according to seniors Christopher Daniele, Angela Harvie, and Amber Krawczyk.

Juniors Andrea Samson and Michael Wilson smile for the camera when thinking of the memories their friendship has made.

"Each friend represents a world in us, a world possibly not born until they arrive, and it is only by this meeting that a new world is born"

-Anais Nin

Throughout our lives, our friendships mean a lot to us. To some, they mean as much or more to us as our relationships with our families.

These, our high school years, are some of the most important years of our lives. The people we spend these years with become life long friends. They share the good times and bad times, the tears and the laughter, the sadness and the joy.

Within the walls of Chicopee Comprehensive, as well as outside, we spend a great deal of time with those people we call our friends. We share our secrets, our clothes, our rooms, and our notes.

We cry on their shoulders when we lose our loves and share our happiness when we find a new one. We ask for their advice when we aren't sure of how to ask that special person out. And, of course, who can forget the late night talks?

By our senior year, we have drifted apart from some childhood friends and grown closer to others. We may even find friendships in the people whom we might never have thought we would have before. It could be someone you share one or two classes with and you find out you have more in common than you thought.

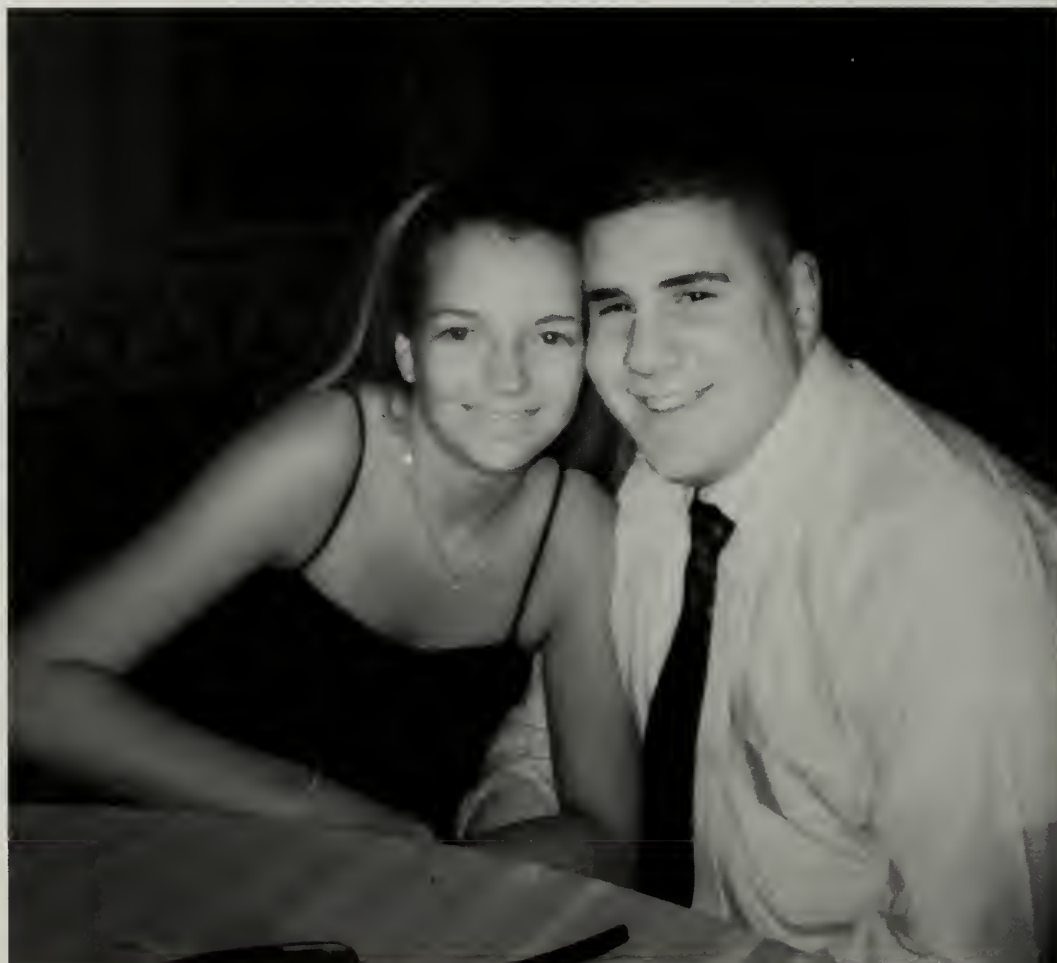

No matter where you find your friendships, whether you are complete opposites or exactly alike, the friendships you make during your years at Comp will change your life.

- Jennifer Deitz

Cuddling Couples

Kelly Hogan and Mike Hamel still going strong after three years and three months.

Scott Labrie and Chrissy Delmonte have been dating for 6 months. They are the senior class couple!

"It's the MILLENNIUM!"

With the arrival of the year 2000, there were many opinions of what would be ahead at the turn of the century. Some feared disaster, while others knew there was not a chance of anything happening. People across the world feared disaster and possibly the destruction of Earth while the less superstitious knew the world would remain the same. Junior Kim Lawrence states, "I didn't think anything would happen. Y2K was all a joke."

Others thought maybe something small would happen. "I thought the power would go out or something minor would happen," claims senior Kara Rege.

New Year's Eve was a much anticipated night for many this year. Senior Trisha Hay recalls, "The only good thing about New Year's was I finally got to see the ball drop, and I was with my closest friends which meant a lot."

Sophomore Rachael Pluta jokes, "My New Year's was very... eventful... All I can say is , I survived PUKEFEST 2000!!!"

In any event, the new year brought no disasters. It was a New Year's like any other. It is a special year for the seniors who are the first class to graduate in the year 2000. After all... it's the Millennium!!!

-Andrea Lambert

"You know I could win the Iron Man competition!" Junior Kyle Krow flexes his bulging biceps.

What was your reaction to the Colts winning the Sword Game for the first time in 10 years?

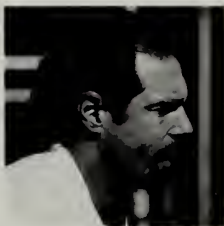

"Since the Comp vs. High game is so important - and the one game that everyone remembers each year - it was relieving to see the Colts finally come out on top. Now that the sword is here, let's keep it here." - Matt St. Laurent

"When I saw the fans run onto the field, I couldn't help crying. I stayed away from the mob, though. Instead I went and fell on the ground. I was tired and sore but I never felt so happy before." - Gary Perreault

"We won!! I was so excited (and I couldn't wait for the parties)! We finally got it!!" - Pam Bournique Tabbatha Lafluer and Allison Lapierre were in the crowd. Tabbatha remembers, "Having everyone on the field celebrating was great. I couldn't stop crying. I will never forget that day!"

I was so happy for all our players past and present and the student body for doing what so many thought could not be done, winning the Sword Game! - Marc Schuerfeld

As the clock counts down, the anxiety builds as to whether or not the Colts would hold on to win the game and bring the sword home to Comp.

The mighty Colts fighting to come back and win the sword back from the Pacers.

Co-captains Geoff Gagnon and Jeremy Hartbarger say a few words at the rally held the Friday after the game.

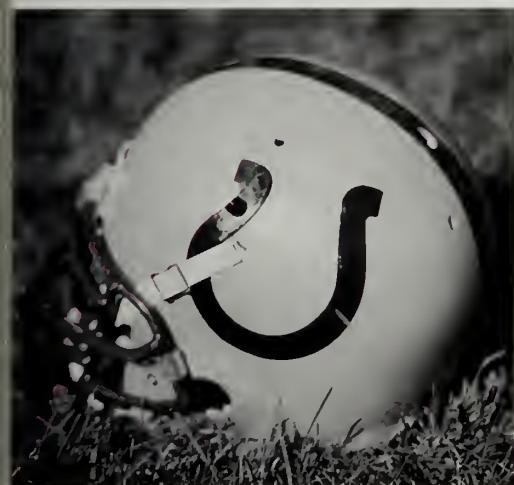

Coach Walley Desautels and co-captains Geoff Gagnon, Jeremy Hartbarger, and Michael Hamel hold the coveted sword at the rally one week after Comp won 36 - 28. After ten years, the day had finally come for the sword to be held in the hands of the Colts.

A sea of blue and gold as Comp wins the Sword

Comp fans going crazy as the Colts make a play towards winning the sword!

Your eyes scan the crowd, and all you see is a sea of blue and gold. The stands are filled to overflowing at the annual Sword Game between the Colts and Pacers. The excitement was infectious coming from the thousands of cheering spectators.

The second half of the game looked brighter than the first, and the enthusiasm of the crowd was growing. The anticipation was overwhelming. No one knew whether or not the Colts were going to bring home the sword, but the hopes were high, and in the end all worked out.

During the game a lot of fans thought it looked doubtful that the Colts would bring home the sword. But the Colts played hard, and during the last quarter they proved all those doubtful spectators wrong. Scoring touchdowns and preventing the Pacers from regaining the lead became the main focus of the players.

Within the last few minutes of the game, the fans were screaming because it now seemed obvious that for the first time in 10 years, the Colts were going to bring home the sword.

As the final seconds on the clock counted down to zero with the Colts ahead by eight points, the Comp fans rushed the field, jumping over the fence-- anything to get to the team.

After the game, the field was full of screaming, crying, and excited fans, spectators, and players. For the Comp Colts had won the game. They finally brought home the sword after being defeated 10 years in a row. They proved to everyone that if you want it enough and you have dedication, you can do anything you want to, even if it seems the odds are against you.

Dancing the Night Away...at the Cotillion

All the excitement built up as everyone entered the Log Cabin. The dining hall looked beautiful and the dimness of the room gave the whole night a certain relaxed and calm mood. The evening started with everyone sitting down to eat at a buffet with a variety of food. After the buffet, a wide variety of desserts were served.

After the food, of course there was dancing. Everyone got up and squeezed themselves onto the small dancing floor which proved big enough for everyone to dance on. In between songs, announcements were made to have pictures taken so you could capture the excitement of the night in a photo.

The dance floor was still packed by the end of the night, until Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Casolari made a few final comments which signified the end. So in a sense, everyone really "danced the night away..."

The cotillion provides great fun, entertainment, and more unforgettable memories.

Sophomore Elizabeth Dawson said "It's a great way to go out and have fun with your friends, the hardest part is getting ready."

Preparation might be the hardest part of the cotillion, but it was well worth it.

The gang's all here. A group of sophomores take a break from dancing to pose for a picture.

Best friends Tiffany Roberts and Erin DeFlumere are having fun hanging out together.

Cute couple. Jamie Tellier and Chris Ferdette look pleased to pose for a picture.

A sea of people.
Everyone crowds onto the dance floor to dance the night away...

Taking a breather.
Stacey Getto, Jarrod Goss,
Kyle Krow, and Mark Rakowski look tired after dancing, so they take time out to talk.

Cuddling up for a picture are Jeremy Hartbargar and Jen Larose.

Sharing good times with laughter. Angela Thatcher, Danielle Converse, Sara Griffin, Tiffany Roberts, and Karen Lavarney smile pretty for a picture.

C'mon tell us What did you like most about prom night?

"The night was a lot of fun. The best part about it was everyone got along, and it's one of the last times we will be together as a class-- just a great overall feeling."

- Jeff Sawyer

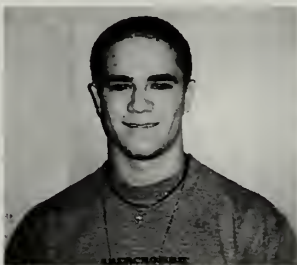

"I had an awesome time. The music was good, and everyone was there just to dance and have fun. It was a great night."

- Pam Bournique

"It was a great night, everyone was there, and everyone had a good time."

- Geoff Gagnon

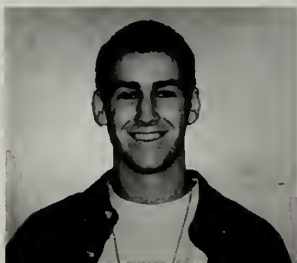

"Prom night '99 was one of the most memorable nights of my high school years. I had a lot of fun, and I was happy I got to spend it with my friends."

- Jenn Deitz

"I had a great time at the Prom. I thought the location was very good. The food and entertainment was excellent, and I enjoyed spending time with my friends."

- Scott Labrie

"Excited" said Cassandra Shirk as she and Jenna Daigneault start the night in a dazzling white limousine.

Aleah Abert and Andrea Schoen kneel down and present to you the red divas of Chicopee Comp with Amanda Thomas, Erica Whalley, Sara Beaulieu and Holly Sabourin.

A memory is in the making as Heather D'Amour and Sara Beaulieu embrace in friendship.

Student Survey Declares "last spring's Jr. Prom was a success!"

JJR PROM

"Aaaw" what a cute couple! Richard Hurley and Melissa Reale enjoying an unforgettable night.

Dancing and lots of memories caught the eyes of students who attended their Junior Prom last spring. "Wonderful! It was one of the the best nights of my life" expressed one student about that night in a survey that was taken in late October.

"Unforgettable" said a student adding "it was a great night of memories that no one will forget."

This memorable night was held at the beautiful Log Cabin in Holyoke. "I thought it was a great place for picture taking as well as a big place for dancing and laughing," said another student describing the atmosphere. "I enjoyed sitting with my friends and just being able to hang-out during the meal," said another prom-goer.

"It was extremely fun, and I don't really like proms that much," said a student who attends a lot of proms, but liked and had fun at this one.

"My favorite thing was dancing; I enjoyed seeing everyone having fun." "Probably the best prom I've been to! I loved it," exclaimed one student who had a good time. Students enjoyed having the prom at the Log Cabin and suggested that the prom should be held there in the future.

Most students said they enjoyed it, but few didn't like having to be baby-sat, and would like the freedom to step outside and have a cigarette.

AUTOGRAPHS

Entering the Real World

Showing off their tremendous school spirit, sophomore Ben Adams and senior Dan Lamothe clash together during Spirit Week.

Looking back over the last four years we can hardly remember each day. There are spots of vagueness and those of clarity, and the laughter of a childhood gone by rings in our experienced ears. We are blinded by the brightness of some of the happiest days, but the brightest is just coming upon us, a day doubtlessly to be remembered, perhaps, above all the rest. We approach our graduation from high school as an end, cheerfully embraced, but also as a beginning, timidly considered with caution. And lost between emotions we can only hope that things will turn out right. We have got to delve out into the sea and swim towards what we most desire, because no one else can do it for us now. Who here will survive this test of strength? Going out into a million different directions, claiming this life finally as our own, from here on out we can only depend on ourselves, and as for the outcome, only time will tell. We abandon our childhoods for experiences so much more worthwhile, and in our hearts we will remember that this is when we must leave some behind, but, someday, we will surely meet again.

Jillian Pare

Chillin' out near the ice cream truck, Christopher Drobnak, Gregory Janik, and Jason Gagnon display their friendship at the Senior Picnic.

Wearing his Dennis Rodman outfit, Sean Turconi gives the camera a menacing stare while he gets ready for his appearance in the Miniature Globetrotters skit.

Participating in the games at the Senior Aloha, Chrysanthe Courniotes bobs for apples in the hopes that she will win.

Having a swimmingly good time at High Meadows, Richard Hurley gives Nicole Guilbert a ride in the pool.

Baseball hits home

Throwing heat past his opponent, Jeremy Hartbarger, fires his fast ball.

Squatting and ready for whatever comes his way is catcher Mike Rock.

Smile if you love baseball! Team captains Chris Nally, Ryan Sullivan, and Jeremy Hartbarger.

Swinging for the fences, Ryan Sullivan tries to bring it home.

Checking his swing, Mike Wheeler thinks, "Why didn't I swing at that pitch?"

Waiting anxiously for the pitch, junior Julie Kukahiko is swinging away.

Protecting the plate senior Tricia Hay is trying to get a perfect game.

Going for the bunt in almost every game, Jessie Fitzgerald tries to get a base hit.

With the determination on her face, freshman Theresa Castner is waiting for the pitch.

In the couple of games junior Amber Patruno played first, this is just one of the many easy outs she caught.

Junior pitcher Amy Plasse is throwing her famous "mad ball."

Six more laps to go, thinks Kyle Chagnon, as he leads the pack.

Charging past their competition, junior Luis Torres and senior Adam Binczewski race for the finish line. Besides playing an important role in the boys track team's success, Luis placed first at Individuals for both high and low hurdles and second at Western Mass.

Track team 2000

BOYS TRACK

The Boys Track team started off with another great season and ended with a spectacular record of six wins and three loses. With all their hard efforts put into the season, they placed fourth in the Valley League. Some have accomplished their own individual achievements. Luis Torres had a great season, winning both high and low hurdles throughout the season. He placed first for both his events at Individuals and came in second in all of Western Mass. He had also qualified for States. In the "two mile for Comp" was Kyle Chagnon, who took tenth for the two mile. In the field events are Tony Maugaleoo for the discus, who placed fifth at Western Mass. David Forrette and Justin Hill, (who also did long jump) and Lamont Westley, who did the high jump. In the 100 meter dash was Ross Domingos. Others who represented our school with pride were George Morash, Curtis McManaman, Kelton Westly, John Krzystofik, Nick Tourville, Matt Chagnon, Mike Carney, Douglas Galiatsos, Eric Clapp, Ricky Gadoury, Donnell Bougher, Mike Wilson, Ryan Hurley, Jeremy Bruso, Krzysztof Wanat, Justin Lafountain, Mathew Slachetka, Micky Dumais and Bryan Russell.

GIRLS TRACK

What a nice group of senior captains. Stephanie Nichols, Kara Rege, Chrissy Delmonte, and Angela Koziol.

The track season started off a little rocky going into our first meet against Palmer, the best team in our league. We had a lot of returning talent along with new members of the team. We had a good season even though our record was 4-5. About twenty girls made it to Western Mass, and out of that, five of them placed: Stephanie Nichols in the shotput, Lea Daigneault in the discus, Jen Hawkes in the high jump, Hether Wenninger in the mile, and Britney Maciolek in the 400. Others who represented Comp at Individuals were Ashley Barrows, Liz Koziol, Krista Langlois, Shaune Albrecht, Rachel Pluta and Falon Maugaleoo.

Look at that technique. Freshmen Britney Maciolek high jumps at a height of 4'8".

Run Pluta Run!!, sophomore Rachel Pluta runs the 100.

Up Up and away!!! Shauna Albrecht going for height and distance in the long jump.

Showing Their True Colors

Participation runs high during Spirit Week

Wearing their bright yellow homemade shirts with spirit written all over their faces are Sarah Fitzgerald and Nicole Rosiensi.

"Sucking it down" at the Spirit Rally Competition is senior Tricia Hay.

Standing tall and proud in pajamas is Mr. CCHS 2000, Scott Labrie.

Pretty in pink were the freshmen on color day. Brittany Maciolek stands up for the class of 2003 at the Spirit Rally.

The competition for Mr. CCHS 2000 was pretty fierce. Mike Abbott, D.L. Peterkin, James Mattson and Zack Siano stand ready to compete.

Sophomore girls Rachel Cramer, Aggie Jarzynska, Alexez Lamountain, Cara Bator, and Chrissy Sheehan sport their red class shirts with great big smiles and tons of spirit.

Seniors Enjoy Victory!

Junior Prom

Girls just want to have fun! Tiffany Roberts, Erin DeFlumere, Kim Cook, Amy Skorka, and Danielle Maynard are all smiles while they dance the night away at the Junior Prom at the Sheraton Hotel in Springfield.

What a cute couple! Cara Wahlgren and Chris Galindo are happy as can be as they enter the dining area for a fun-filled and exciting night.

Senior Class Picnic

Vincent Bennett gives a "thumbs up" while eating his hot dog.

On Monday, June 5, the senior class at Chicopee Comp joined a few other schools at High Meadows for their senior class picnic. Arriving at nine-thirty, the seniors had a few things in store for them. They were offered a chance to play volleyball, basketball, horseshoes, and shuffleboard. Seniors were also given a chance to tie-dye their own shirts and get their pictures taken with characters such as Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Austin Powers, The Rock, and Jar-Jar Binks, though they were only cardboard cutouts. At one point in the day there was a hypnotist show in which Dave Fareti got hypnotized, and he sang a Ricky Martin song, "Livin' La Vida Loca," in front of everyone. Later on in the day Chicopee High girls defeated Chicopee Comp girls in a game of tug of war; each team put up a long and hard struggle. At the end of the day, the seniors were called to a huge field for one of the largest and strangest water balloon and egg tosses.

-Andrea Pineau

Mike Maciolek and Tricia Hay are ready to toss their water balloons across the field.

Amy Tanguay demonstrates how you can have a good time when you are just hanging around.

How good is that ice cream? Heather Lavigne, Jamie Pirog, Sara Gelinas, Jenn Dubin, Tami Paquette, and Jenn Lempke seem to be enjoying it.

Joe Jubinville and Amy Kukahiko stop only for a second to get their picture taken before they fill their plates with food.

"We're having fun" or so it seems as a group of friends enthusiastically pose for the camera.

Having a lot of fun on three legs are Jill Houle and Sara Czerniak.

Though Mr. Sweeney put a lot of effort into this game of volleyball, his opponents seem to have overpowered him, causing him to fall on his butt.

Producing a nice volley for his team on the volleyball court, Daniel Lamothe makes it all look easy.

How much effort did the girls of Chicopee Comp put into their game of tug of war? These eight girls look like they are putting everything they have into this contest.

Someone got a little too involved in the pie eating contest, but Chrysanthé Courniotes has always wanted to be in one.

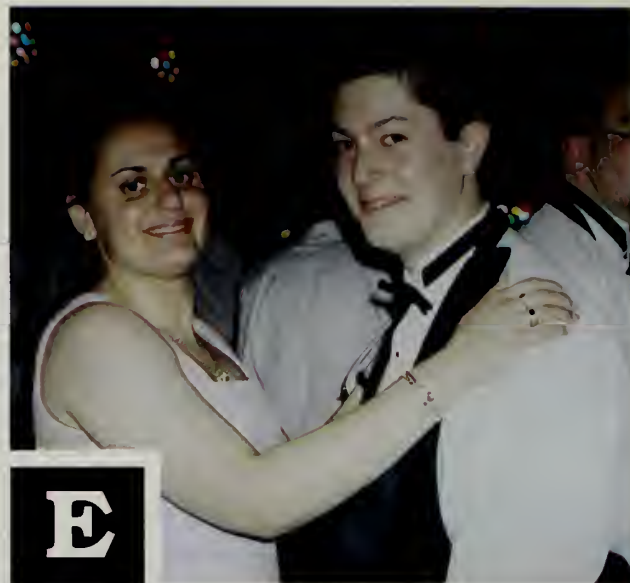

How good is that cotton candy? Just ask Laura White and Christopher Showers.

Something never forgotten, FRIENDS!

Senior Prom smiles are being given by Amber Krawczyk, Michael Barrett, Chris Daniele, and Karen Archambault.

Everything seems right in the world since Chrysanthe Courniotes and Nicholas Dorval started dancing together.

Radiant smiles are coming from the faces of Nicole Guilbert and Richard Hurley. They are the Prom Queen and King.

Unforgettable Night

The anticipation, the excitement, and the enthusiasm. These emotions and more were undoubtedly present at the Class of 2000's senior prom. The Senior Prom was filled with gowns, tuxedos, fancy hairstyles (especially Mrs. Fennessey's), crowns and capes, umbrellas for all the rain, limos, flaming dessert, long lines for pictures, and most of all over 330 students, guests and faculty of Chicopee Comp. This year's prom was held on the very rainy and dreary night of Tuesday, June 6th, and even with all the bad weather nothing stopped the class of 2000 from having the time of thier lives. The year's senior prom had a few differences from past years. First, the Prom started at 5:30 instead of 6:00, leaving the students to have more time for dancing. Next, their was a change of location. In past years the senior prom was held at La Renaissance in Connecticut, but this year the prom was held at the elegant and beautiful Chez Josef in Agawam. Lastly the senior class advisors decided to have a Prom King and Queen. The pair were chosen by the faculty at Comp and the class of 2000. This year's prom King Richard Hurley and Queen Niki Guilbert were chosen for thier dedication to thier class and Comp. These new changes and the excitement of all the members of the class of 2000 made the senior prom unforgettable.

Senior Banquet

Who could ever forget the Ramen noodles?! Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Casolari want Richard Hurley to always remember how many he bought to help the seniors win Spirit Week.

"You look just like the jolly green giant!" exclaimed Caitlin Lord to Vincent Bennett and Angela Harvie at Chateau Provost.

Looking over portraits from the past, Amanda Thomas is amazed at what everyone looked like freshman year.

All dressed up are Nicholas Dorval, Christopher Showers, Greg Tiner, Nicholas Corey, Daniel LaFond, Roger Rouillard, and Christopher Schindler.

Signing Chris Showers' bear, Miss Parzych was almost in tears over the yearbook dedication.

Graduation

Receiving her diploma, Amy Tanguay accepts it with a firm handshake from Mrs. Cove.

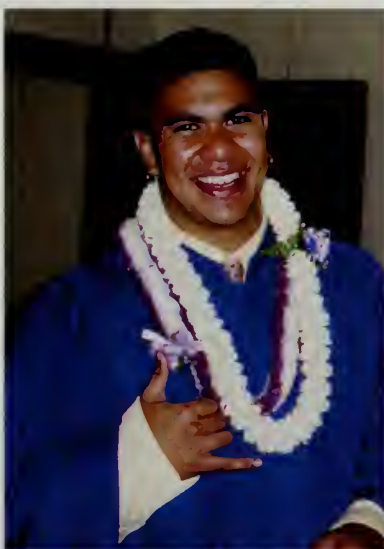

Listening to the graduation speakers, Jason Gagnon waits patiently while remembering all the highlights of his time at Comp.

They watch all the graduates file into their seats: Co-Salutatorians Kimberly Such and Daniel Lamothe. Valedictorian Toni Ferreira. and class officers Holly Sabourin and Nicole Guilbert.

Conducting the band for the last time, Drum Major Joel Bissonnette concentrates on making his last performance at Comp his best.

Happy as can be, Tony Maugaleoo is hanging loose while showing his Hawaiian spirit.

Awaiting the processional song, "Pomp and Circumstance," Gary Perreault, Jeffrey Sawyer, Stephanie Nichols, and Lena Laterreur joined together for one last group hug before they become graduates of the Class of 2000.

"Ya, man. Where's the rest of the Midget Globetrotters?" Jamaican man Bones, aka Matthew Therrien, looks cool on stage with his new set of dreadlocks.

The Senior Guys' Sleepover showed up the Senior Girls' Say What Karaoke Senior Style, with Chris Nally, Sean Turconi, Scott Labrie, Mike Hamel, Dan LaFond, and Richard Hurley doing their own version of the can-can. They danced to Shania Twain, "Barbie Girl" by Aqua, and "In the Navy" by the Village People.

"I think Miss Pare and Miss Bournique enjoyed this skit a little too much," says Mr. Sweeney.

"Rigor mortis is already setting in." Daniel LaFond takes his pulse while checking out the 'fakies' with Christopher Schindler.

Practicing their skit, Elizabeth Novak and Toni Ferreira dance to their favorite song, "Say My Name" by Destiny's Child.

C IS FOR COOKIE! Matthew Slachetka is part of a funny skit that mixes Sesame Street with hard rock.

Facial exercises are good for relaxing during intermission, as proven by MC's Scott Labrie and Chris Nally.

Singing her version of a Britney Spears song entitled "Fakies," Jenn Clark, who wrote and sang the song, is with her dancers Kim Such, Allison Lapierre, and Tabbatha Lafleur, who is also the choreographer.

Jillian Pare annoys the serious Allison Lapierre while Tricia Hay gets comfortable during senior finals.
